

A COMMITMENT TO ACTION TO ADDRESS TRAUMA IN CHILDREN AND FAMILIES IN CONNECTICUT

The Office of Early Childhood and partners present a conference on addressing the effects of trauma in children and families; for the first time Childhood Conversations and Together We Will have joined forces to present one early childhood conference for the State of Connecticut.

There is so much work going on in the state to address trauma and we would like to offer you the opportunity to highlight your work at this year's conference.

State agencies, conference partners and others are invited to announce a commitment to new and measureable projects to address trauma in young children and families in the state of Connecticut.

Because time at the conference is limited we are asking you to use the space provided below to submit your projects. Several will be chosen to be presented on stage during the conference lunch as part of OEC Commissioner David Wilkinson's talk. Each project will be given two minutes to present to an audience of community-based service providers, school aged providers, early childhood professionals, early intervention (Birth to Three) providers and parents.

CONTACT INFORMATION

Name: _____ Organization: _____

Phone: _____ E-Mail: _____

Brief description of project to be announced, include population to be served:

|

Is it new? Yes No Is it measureable? Yes No

If it is measureable, what are the expected measureable outcomes of the project?

Are you registered or planning to register for the conference? Yes No

Which day(s) will you attend? Friday Saturday Both

Please complete this form using the space provided and return it by email to Deb.Resnick@ct.gov on or before March 16, 2018.